

Update: NHS services for those affected by the Grenfell Tower fire

Professor Stec research

We are aware of a paper being published by Professor Anna Stec on potential soil contaminants in the area around Grenfell Tower.

As findings emerge, we, like the community, will rely on advice from the Multi Agency Partnership, chaired by Minister Hurd, that brings together scientific expertise and all government departments to help us to continue to put in place the right services now and in the long term.

Local people and healthcare professionals may have concerns. We hope that the information included here is helpful.

Support in the NHS

The NHS is here to support the community - we do understand your concerns. If you are worried about your health or somebody else's health, we really encourage you to speak to your GP to get an enhanced health check to assess your current health and, if needed, your GP may refer you for more specialist help. Enhanced health checks are available for children and adults.

Situations like this can make people feel worse - increasing their anxiety or bringing on panic attacks, which can be experienced like physical pain. Talk to your GP or the Grenfell Health and Wellbeing Service if you are troubled by difficult feelings.

If you were affected by the fire, and are living in another borough, you can access these services. Please speak to your GP in the first instance. Contact details for each service are included here.

Enhanced health checks

If you are worried about your health, the NHS encourages you to speak to your GP and get an enhanced health check.

For adults, enhanced health checks include:

- _ Addressing concerns around breathing difficulties.
- _ Monitoring for, and effective management of, long term conditions, such as diabetes.
- _ Physical health checks (looking at weight gain, blood pressure and cholesterol).
- _ On-going mental health screening that will include screening for anxiety, depression, trauma responses and other emotional health difficulties.

For further information about enhanced health checks, speak to your GP, or contact our community service, Enhanced at 020 3434 2500.

For children, enhanced health checks include:

- _ Checking concerns around breathing.
- _ Emotional health screening.
- _ Weight monitoring and links to local weight management services.
- _ Focus on physical activity and exercise programmes within the community.

For further information about enhanced health checks for children, speak with your GP.

Coping with everyday life

Your GP

People affected by the fire can book longer GP appointments to give you more time to talk about everything. Tell your doctor if you have a cough or breathing problems or if you have other health problems like heart disease. They can send you to a specialist clinic at St Mary's Hospital for people with breathing problems.

You can also see a GP or nurse in the evening or at weekends if you live in Kensington and Chelsea, Queen's Park or Paddington or have a GP there.

Your GP's receptionist can book the appointment for you at:

- _ Violet Melchett Integrated Care Centre
- _ St Charles Centre for Health and Wellbeing Integrated Care Centre.

NHS 111

You can telephone 111 for advice if you need medical help quickly but it is not a 999 emergency.

Emotional wellbeing

The NHS can help if you, or someone you know, is feeling sad or cannot cope. Speak to your GP or the Grenfell Health and Wellbeing Service.

Grenfell Health and Wellbeing Service

This is a free and confidential service for children, adults and families affected by the Grenfell Tower fire. We know that people are experiencing a broad range of difficulties following the fire.

For some, it has triggered distressing thoughts, memories and nightmares. You may be struggling to sleep, feeling anxious, angry or low in mood. Some people are also finding it difficult to cope with persistent and traumatic feelings of grief, or adjusting to life and changes following the fire.

We offer tailored support to give you the help you want, at the pace you need it. You can telephone us on: 020 8962 4393.

The children's arm of the service works closely with schools and families to support children and young people who are anxious or upset. We will find out what support your child needs and which service can help them.

If you or someone you know needs need urgent help

If you or someone you know need out of hours support because you're feeling anxious, upset or suicidal you can contact us 24 hours a day.

Telephone: 0800 0234 650
Email: cnw-tr.SPA@nhs.net

The service is confidential and you do not have to give us your personal information. The person who answers the phone will make sure you get the right support from the right service. You can also call the Samaritans on 116 123. This is a free, confidential 24 hour service.
