How to register with a doctor

Many people following the Grenfell fire are having difficulties with their health. If you have a health problem, there are lots of health services to help you directly or where you can be referred. You will need to register with a GP in order to get help with your health needs.

What is a GP?

A GP is a local family doctor. You need to register with a GP as soon as you can so that you can see the GP when you are sick. This is a free service; once you are registered there is no charge to see your GP. You do not need to have ID or an address to register with a GP.

Finding a doctor

All GP surgeries in the North Kensington area are open and accepting new patients—please see list over the page or look on NHS Choices— www.nhs.uk.

When you want to register at the GP reception, they will ask you to fill in a registration form. Ask for help with filling in the form if needed and return it to the GP reception. Registration is usually a simple and quick process and you will not be required to provide ID or proof of address.

- If you prefer, you can ask to see a female GP (if available). If not, ask the receptionist for a female chaperone.
- You can expect to be treated politely and with dignity.
- The GP and staff will expect you to treat them politely.
- You can ask for help if you feel they don't understand your needs.
- You can ask to discuss your health issues and personal details in a quiet and confidential place at the GP surgery.
- Your details should always be kept confidential and safe by the GP.

Help with filling in the form

Local organisations that support asylum seekers, refugees and migrants may be able to help you fill in the local registration form. If you can't get help, tell the GP receptionist. Ask them to book an interpreter who can help you fill in the form so you can register.
